Gendarmes in Action

Bulgarian gendarmes were dispatched to many Bulgarian villages where residents were excitedly discussing the hectic Balkan situation and the possibility that German forces might move through Bulgaria in a sudden southward drive against Greece and the Dardanelles.

In some places the villagers were said to have adopted a threatening attitude to local authorities.

Riots occurred at Rutschuk, where a large pontoon bridge across the Danube permits free access to Bulgaria from Romania.

Meanwhile, intense interest centered in the report from Sofia regarding establishment of the British base on Lemnos Island.

LIBERTY OF U. S. AT STAKE, CRIES SENATE DEBATER

Gillette Of Iowa Calls For Defeat Of Lend, Lease Measure

TOO MUCH POWER GIVEN

Nation's Existence Placed On Judgment Of F.D.R., Upper House Hears

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — The lease-lend bill permits President Roosevelt to sit in the "international poker game of power politics" and stake the liberty of America on his judgment, Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D) Iowa declared in a heated attack on the measure in the senate today.

The white-haired Iowan, a veteran of two American wars, headed a list of four middle western senators taking the floor to urge defeat of the aid bill. He was to be followed by Sens. Brooks (R) Ill., Bulow (D) S. D., and Taft (R) Ohio.

If Britain is fighting America's battle, Gillette said, congress should immediately declare war. If it is not America's battle, he said, the nation should shun involvement.

The aid-to-democracies bill, he declared, menaces American safety by stripping the nation's defenses in order to help foreign nations.

"I cannot vote," Gillette stated, "to pass any measure which will permit the President, or any man under God's almighty Heavens to sit in the international poker game of power politics and stake in his discretion, by his judgment of the value of each play, all the resources of the United States, the life, the liberty, the happiness, the security, and perhaps the blood of her citizens."

Foes Outnumbered
Conceding that foes of the bill are outnumbered three to one, Gillette said he broke with the leaders of his party with great reluctance. He assailed Nazism and said America already has greatly aided Britain.

To carry out the President's policy of assuring freedom in the world, Gillette said, the nation (Continued on Page Ten)

My call was simply for the purpose of exchanging information and there was no question whatever of any appeal for help before it is too late."

Eden, Dill Map Britain's Steps in Middle East

CAIRO, Feb. 21—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the imperial general staff, will review the entire military and political situation in the Middle East and Africa resulting from British victories over the Italians in Libya, a British embassy spokesman declared today.

The sudden visit of the two men to Egypt was regarded as emphasizing the importance of the middle eastern war front and also was seen as an indication that vital and possibly decisive decisions in this area are about to be made. A British embassy spokesman declared:

"The British war cabinet has shown the importance of this by sending the foreign secretary, assisted by the cabinet's chief military advisor."

Work After Settlement
Of Difficulties

DETROIT, Feb. 21—Seventy-five hundred workers at the Packard Motor Car Co., plant here were thrown out of work today when officials declared the continued strike at the Motor Wheel Corp., in Lansing shut off the supply of wheels for Packard cars.

Officials emphasized that the shutdown affected automobiles only and that work on National Defense contracts will continue. The company is making marine engines for navy torpedo boats and is erecting a new building to manufacture airplane engines.

Notice of the shutdown was posted throughout the plant and it was made clear that the plant would be closed for an indefinite period.

(Editor's Note: The strike at the Motor Wheel Corp., affecting 3,000 employees, is now in its ninth day with no sign of early settlement.)

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 21—A federal labor conciliator was slated to arrive in Lansing today to renew negotiations in the Motor Wheel Corp. strike which is holding up production on $4,000,000 worth of defense orders.

Whereas it was originally believed that the defense contracts held by the corporation amounted to $1,500,000, company officials said that figure was wrong and that the contracts were valued at $4,000,000.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 21—Production was resumed today at the Fisher body plant after a labor dispute which resulted in 2,000 night shift workers being sent home after working for only two hours.

Cause Not Certain
There was some disagreement as to the actual cause of the trouble. Alfred Clausen, plant manager, said the workers were sent home because of a "slowdown" while Thomas Eno, president of the Fisher local of the UAW-CIO, said the trouble culminated in a "shutdown."

DETROIT, Feb. 21—Demanding a collective bargaining agreement, 115 workers went out on strike today at the Towne-Robinson Nut Co., which is making nuts and bolts for army trucks as well as brass nuts for use in naval yards. The strikers are affiliated with the UAW-CIO.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21—Strikes at two Bridgeville plants today kept 1,900 men from work and marked a distinct slow-down in National Defense production in this area.

At the Universal-Cyclops Steel Corporation, some 1,500 workers ended a 15-day truce with the company by going out on strike to press their demands for wage increases.

At the Vanadium Corporation of America, 400 former employees—fired by the company with approval of CIO officials—continued their "wildcat" strike despite efforts of federal and state labor conciliators. High CIO officials readily admit that the strikers are out in violation of their contract and, although attempting to iron out grievances, have stated that the men have no protection under DONORA, Pa., Feb. 21—Full-time operations were resumed today at the Donora zinc works of the American Steel and Wire Company plant in the wake of CIO President Philip Murray's orders to employees to end their "outlaw" strike.

Local SWOC officials said they were "glad" to order their men back to work.

CARTERET, N. J., Feb. 21—Eight hundred employees of the Foster-Wheeler Corporation, working on $500,000 worth of boilers for the U. S. Navy, ended their week's strike today and returned to work after winning concessions from the management.

Strikes Banned

The new contract for a year bars strikes, sit-downs or lock-outs, providing for arbitration of disputes. It grants the CIO recognition as bargaining agent, provides for distribution of a $15,000 annual bonus, a 5 percent increase in pay for night workers, time and a half for overtime and double time for holidays.

FAILURE TO BUY DOG TAG PUTS WOMAN IN JAIL

Mother Of Four Serving In Uncle Sam's Units In Cell Four Days

BELMONT CASE CITED

Matter Of Dollar Penalty Blamed For Arrest Of Farmer's Wife

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Feb. 21—A sick and enfeebled Lafferty farm woman, the mother of four sons serving with the armed forces of the United States, was recovering at her home today from the effects of four days and nights spent in Belmont County jail for failure to buy a dog license.

Mrs. Mike Korunych, 49, respected wife of a Lafferty farmer, keeps a pet puppy for her son, Mike Jr., stationed at marine barracks in Hawaii. Money is scarce in the Korunych household, and when the January 20 dog license deadline arrived, the woman was unable to pay the $1 fee.

On February 1, however, she mailed a dollar bill to County Auditor E. E. Taylor and asked for a license tag. Back came a letter advising Mrs. Korunych that she must remit an additional $1 penalty.

She replied:

"Dear Sir—I am sorry, Sir. I didn't send my money on time because money grows slow on a farm. I ship two cans of cream a month and my check came late and that is why I sent the money late."

Another Letter

Next Mrs. Korunych received a letter from Dog Catcher James Neitzel saying: "My department received a smart answer about your money growing on a farm. If you want to keep a dog buy your license. You owe another $1. Or you can pay more to a justice of the peace."

Dog Catcher Neitzel came to the Korunych farm last Friday, arrested the woman and escorted her to Squire Cornelius Phillips of Fairpoint. Unable to pay the penalty, she was fined $5 and costs, a total of $14.70, and sent to jail.

Bewildered and frightened, the woman became hysterical Friday night when the fire siren sounded outside the bars of her cell.

"It was awful," she said today, wringing her hands and sobbing. "I thought I was going to be burned up like those people in the Easter fire at the Ohio Penitentiary. What will my sons think when they learn that their mother is a jail bird?"

Two physicians were called to treat Mrs. Korunych during her four days of confinement. Her husband, who was absent from the farm at the time of her arrest and learned of his wife's fate from neighbors, appealed to Auditor Taylor who in turn prevailed on Squire Phillips to release her after the $1 penalty had been paid.

To Ban Jail Terms

Squire Phillips said he would not press the Korunych family for payment of the fine, but it appeared today that the case is not ended. Wayne L. Hays, Democratic state senator from Belmont County, said he would cite the Korunych story on the floor of the Senate Monday night when he introduces a bill to amend the dog license law to make imposition of jail sentences impossible in the future.

OHIOAN TO FACE MURDER CHARGE IN WOOD COUNTY

BOWLING GREEN, Feb. 21—Charges of first-degree murder and arson faced John L. Thompson, 39-year-old tenant farmer, today after he confessed burning the barn in which his well-to-do employer's body was found last December 23.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Bower said Thompson admitted the crime after being given a lie detector test in Toledo. Wood County Prosecutor Floyd Collier said he would call a special session of the grand jury next week.

The employer, John Horner, 69, was found dead in the ruins of the fire-razed barn on his farm east of Bloomdale. Since, officials had been attempting to solve mysteries surrounding the fire.

Bower said Thompson, who lived a half-mile east of the Horner farm, told conflicting stories of the fire and was given the lie detector test.

The deputy sheriff said Thompson signed a statement in which he admitted striking at Horner when they quarreled on the morning of December 21 over Thompson's drinking. Horner evaded the blow, but fell over a hog and did not get up, Bower quoted Thompson as saying.

After completing the chores, Thompson said Horner still had not gotten up so he picked him up and laid him in a manger. Horner still was laying there the next night, Thompson said.

Wondering "what to do with Horner," Thompson said he struck a match to the chaff and straw and returned to his home.

The tenant farmer was held in Wood County jail pending convening of the grand jury.

VORYS IN FAVOR OF PEACE MOVES BY WASHINGTON

COLUMBUS, Feb. 21—A "peace offensive" to supplement material aid to Britain had been suggested today by Congressman John M. Vorys as a possible effective means of driving Adolf Hitler from control in Germany and obtaining a "just peace."

Speaking at a luncheon of 500 persons at the Exchange club, Vorys said that "refugees who have been in Germany recently tell me that a real peace offensive by the democracies might overthrow Hitler from within."

"If just peace terms began to leak through Nazi censorship by radio, by pamphlets, by word of mouth, Hitler might soon have to make peace or get out," the Columbus congressman said.

"Now the Germans fight because they think they have no alternative. Why not an American peace offensive as an aid to Britain?"

Congressman Vorys, however, predicted passage of the lend-lease bill.

FAILURE TO BUY DOG TAG PUTS WOMAN IN JAIL

Mother Of Four Serving In Uncle Sam's Units In Cell Four Days

BELMONT CASE CITED

Matter Of Dollar Penalty Blamed For Arrest Of Farmer's Wife

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Feb. 21—A sick and enfeebled Lafferty farm woman, the mother of four sons serving with the armed forces of the United States, was recovering at her home today from the effects of four days and nights spent in Belmont County jail for failure to buy a dog license.

Mrs. Mike Korunych, 49, respected wife of a Lafferty farmer, keeps a pet puppy for her son, Mike Jr., stationed at marine barracks in Hawaii. Money is scarce in the Korunych household, and when the January 20 dog license deadline arrived, the woman was unable to pay the $1 fee.

On February 1, however, she mailed a dollar bill to County Auditor E. E. Taylor and asked for a license tag. Back came a letter advising Mrs. Korunych that she must remit an additional $1 penalty.

She replied: "Dear Sir—I am sorry, Sir. I didn't send my money on time because money grows slow on a farm. I ship two cans of cream a month and my check came late and that is why I sent the money late."

Another Letter
Next Mrs. Korunych received a letter from Dog Catcher James Neitzelt saying: "My department received a smart answer about your money growing on a farm. If you want to keep a dog buy your license. You owe another $1. Or you can pay more to a justice of the peace."

Dog Catcher Neitzelt came to the Korunych farm last Friday, arrested the woman and escorted her to Squire Cornelius Phillips of Fairpoint. Unable to pay the penalty, she was fined $5 and costs, a total of $14.70, and sent to jail.

Bewildered and frightened, the woman became hysterical Friday night when the fire siren sounded outside the bars of her cell.

"It was awful," she said today, wringing her hands and sobbing. "I thought I was going to be burned up like those people in the Easter fire at the Ohio Penitentiary. What will my sons think when they learn that their mother is a jail bird?"

Two physicians were called to treat Mrs. Korunych during her four days of confinement. Her husband, who was absent from the farm at the time of her arrest and learned of his wife's fate from neighbors, appealed to Auditor Taylor who in turn prevailed on Squire Phillips to release her after the $1 penalty had been paid.

To Ban Jail Terms
Squire Phillips said he would not press the Korunych family for payment of the fine, but it appeared today that the case is not ended. Wayne L. Hays, Democratic state senator from Belmont County, said he would cite the Korunych story on the floor of the Senate Monday night when he introduces a bill to amend the dog license law to make imposition of jail sentences impossible in the future.

Nowhere in the United States is tobacco smoking prohibited. One state prohibits smoking in public, and another smoking when a public nuisance.

ASSUMING HIS PLACE
IMAGINATIVELY put yourself in the place of the chap who will be the opening leader. With the bidding already given, plus what you consider doing, what lead would be the logical one? Sometimes you can reason it out so logically that you see a chance for a very sound gamble which, on the face of it, would appear suicidal. That type of thinking points the way to some of the most profitable "shooting" bids made by the best tournament experts.

No criticism could be made here of West's opening bid or of North's overcall while not vulnerable. East's free bid of 2-Spades was a bit questionable, though not if the pair was insisting on thoroughly substantial dealer openings.

South was the smart fellow of the bunch, the other players being of the dependable, plodding type not addicted to imaginative coups and sallies. As soon as he heard East's bid, he realized that a spade lead would be likely against a No Trump game bid by him. West would be quite unlikely, he reasoned, to lead his own suit with the No Trump bid at his right, fearing a lead up to the king or some other tenace type of honor holding. He also would be unlikely to lead the dummy's diamond suit. If he decided to lead the unbid suit, clubs, that would be O. K. to South.

As it turned out, West opened his partner's spade suit, the 10. You can count nine tricks now, which South ran to make a game on a hand which offered no other chance for one.

NEW HOLLAND, WASHINGTON, SALT CREEK AND SCIOTO WIN IN CAGE MEET

ATLANTA'S GYM CROWDED FIRST NIGHT OF EVENT

Three Games Scheduled For Friday Evening Following Opening Round

FRAYS ARE ACTION-FILLED

Perry Township Youngsters Lose Long Lead To Drop Overtime Joust

Before a capacity crowd at the Perry Township gymnasium, Pickaway County schools opened their 1941 basketball tournament Thursday evening with New Holland, Washington, Salt Creek and Scioto winning over Darby, Walnut, Perry and Jackson respectively.

Results of Thursday night's games make the Friday's tournament schedule read as follows:

New Holland vs. Monroe at 7 p. m. and Washington vs. Deercreek at 9 p. m., Deercreek and Scioto reserves playing at 8.

After trailing its opponents for three quarters Salt Creek's varsity nosed out Perry, winning in the overtime period 33-31.

The Atlanta boys were off to a quick start in the opening period, finding the hoop three times before the first Salt Creek score, and keeping a comfortable margin, 11 to 6, at the end of the first quarter. Both teams picked up six more points in the second quarter, the score reading 17-12, Perry, at halftime. In the third quarter, Salt Creek pressed the home team hard, making the score 23-18, Perry at the end of the quarter.

Each team continued to score from short shots under the basket as the game went into final minutes, with two minutes to play John Spencer pulled his Salt Creek team out in front with a field goal, making the score 28-27. Edvin Maddex tied the score for Atlanta with a foul as the final quarter ended.

Canter Hits Hoop

In the two minute overtime, Quisenberry found the hoop for a Perry tally, but Jones came back quickly with one for Salt Creek. Maddex cashed in on a foul shot to put Perry in the lead 31-30, but Fred Canter came back with a foul and a field goal to clinch the tilt for Salt Creek.

Scioto's team, picked as a favorite over Jackson, found the Jackson five a stubborn team, and trailed by a score of 6 to 7 at halftime. Jackson took the lead as the game opened, scoring a goal early in the first quarter, and adding five more before the half. Scioto picked up six in the first two periods.

Scioto Hot At Finish

In the third quarter, Scioto pulled ahead by six points, but Jackson came back in the final quarter and pushed its score to 15 one under its opponents, as the clock read four minutes to play. Each team added a basket in the next minute, but Scioto leaped ahead with three more goals before the final gun. The final score was 24-17 in favor of Scioto.

In the opening game of the tournament New Holland pulled its game with Darby out of the fire in the final quarter, winning 27-16.

The Darby five showed strength early in the game and took the lead in the first quarter 4 to 2, continuing to hold it in the second quarter with field goals from well out in the floor, making the score 7 to 4 at the half. Plenty of ball handling and few scores for either team featured the first half.

The New Holland offense turned on in the third quarter, breaking through for close shots under the basket to come out ahead at the end of the third quarter 15 to 13, and continuing to widen its margin in the final quarter as Darby tried desperately for long goals to pull himself into winning position, but was unable to score in the first half of the final quarter.

Hart finally broke the spell for Darby, but Stout and Hill continued to score, the final gun bringing the score, 27-16.

Stout, Pearce and Hill lead the scoring for New Holland with

COUNTYANS RATE SECOND IN OSU BASKET LEAGUE

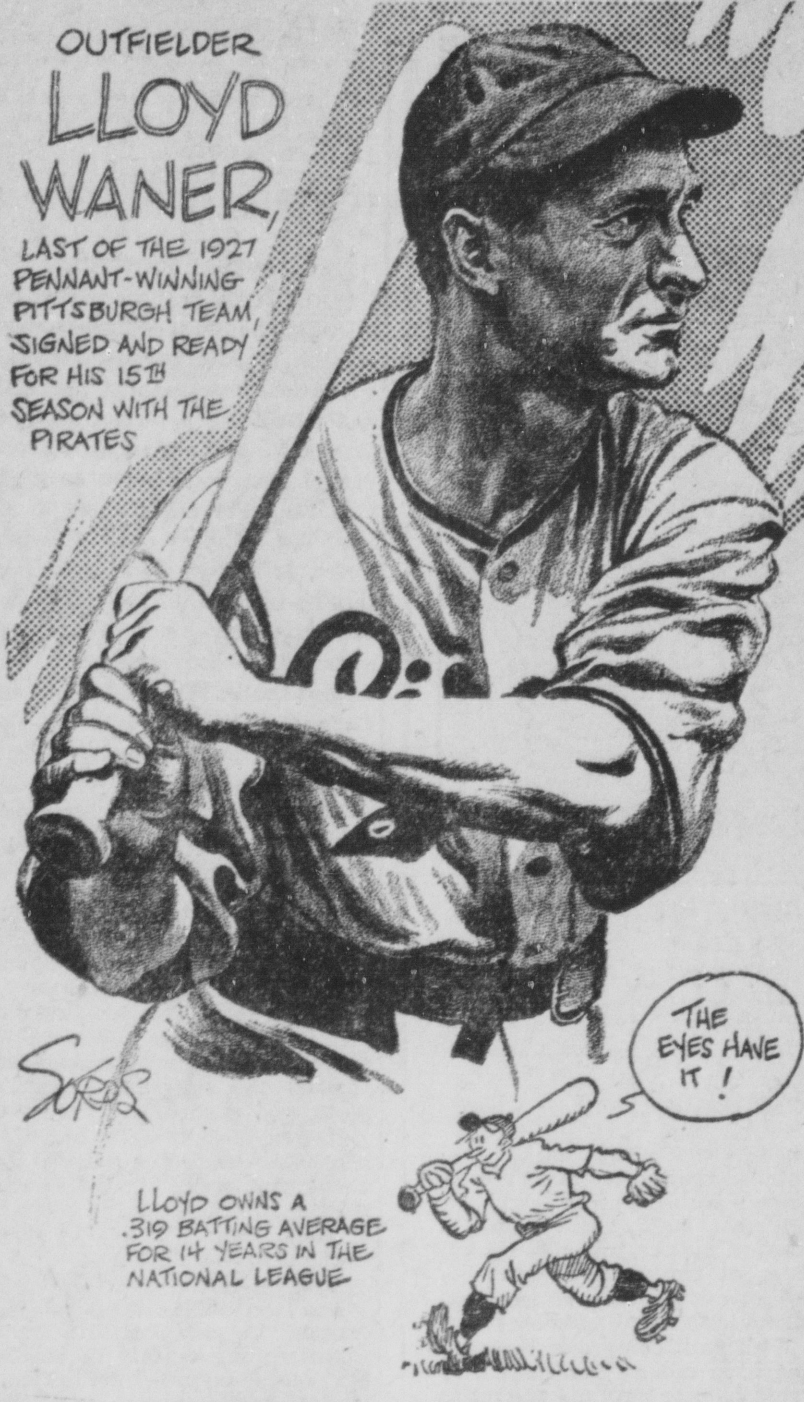

The Pickaway County team in the Ohio State University Intramural state league placed second in the finals played Wednesday. During the last six weeks the Pickaway Countyans have defeated Ashtabula, Holmes, Delaware and Adams Counties, losing only to Fairfield.

On the team are George Wilson and Roger May of Pickaway Township, Gene Ebert of New Holland, John Peck of Atlanta and Bob Hammon of Williamsport.

Tracy, Liff and Graessle contributed most to the Darby score. Washington Township took a victory from Walnut taking the lead early in the first quarter and adding to it freely during the entire game. The final score was 42-23.

Cook and Calvert sunk long ones early in the fourth quarter to pull Walnut to within 13 points of Washington, but its defense failed to keep Washington forwards from breaking through for easy shots under the basket. Chester Wertman and Paul Matz with ten goals between them kept the Washington team well out in front throughout the game. Cook, Campbell, and Calvert led the scoring for Walnut.

Undeclared Greenfield Five Puts Big Win String On Block

Circleville school officials are planning for a capacity crowd Friday night when Greenfield's undefeated McClain varsity invades the Circleville Athletic Club gymnasium to do battle with Roy Black's Red and Black quintet.

Greenfield, led by Don Grate and Eldon Newland, two of Ohio's finest cagers, has won 13 consecutive games, and has not even been pressed closely by any foe.

Coach Black has been working his boys hard in an effort to stop the Greenfield offensive that has been averaging about 50 points a game. All his boys are in good shape and ready for anything.

Lineups are expected to be:

Circleville: Greenfield Woods, F.; Newland Davis, F.; Moorehead, C.; Grate, G.; Gelb, G.; P. Orr, G.; Staley, G.; Woodward, Michigan State.

A reserve game scheduled at 7 o'clock will start festivities.

PATSY PERRONI MAY BE BOMBER'S FOE IN APRIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Patsy Peroni may be substituted for Arturo Godoy as an opponent so that Joe Louis can have his April workout as planned, according to boxing talk here today.

Godoy rejected a bout with Louis on the west coast to make some movies in South America. The talk now is that Peroni will be matched with the challenger for Atlantic City in April.

Peroni went 10 rounds with Louis in 1935.

CHIOZZA'S LEG INJURY HEALS; TERRY PLEASED

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21—Manager Bill Terry of the Giants proclaimed his pleasure today over the spryness displayed by Lou Chiozza at the first fielding practice of spring training.

Chiozza, who was inactive last year because of a broken leg, showed no ill effects of the injury as he cavorted over the diamond. Terry plans to split the team into two squads and play a nine-inning game Sunday.

REDS, DODGERS TO WIN TITLE?

Baseball Season Nearing; Cleveland, New York In American?

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, Feb. 21—The Cincinnati Reds or the Brooklyn Dodgers will win the National League pennant.

The Cleveland Indians or the New York Yankees will win in the American League.

This already is the tenor of baseball pieces coming out of the training camps as veterans and rookies begin to stretch their muscles and fit themselves into the picture dominated by the shining regulars who have all that ginger and zip.

It is customary to announce to the surprise of none at this time of the year that baseball is just around the corner, leaving open to further developments answers to such questions as these:

Can Freddie Fitzsimmons of the Dodgers win 16 against two defeats again this year and if so will it make any difference considering what the Reds have to offer on the mound in the National League race?

The Reds got 58 victories from Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer and Junior Thomas last season and all the Reds need to come through again is approximately the same from their three so-called musketeers, who also won the world championship over the Detroit Tigers.

New, let's take a look at the American League, and start with the Indians. They have just about everything including Bob Feller, and may be reaching a peak when the rest of the clubs are floundering. That should mean something.

If the Indians should miss, then how about the Yankees? The latter have great young talent coming up and are eager if not determined to get back in the place they held until last season, the same being on top.

Behind all that come, the Detroit Tigers, champions of the American League last season, who carried the Reds seven games in the World Series. What about them? Nothing except that everybody says they can't win again, which would mean that they will do it anyhow just as many a team has come from nowhere to make mugs out of those who tossed around the ridicule.

TITLE CONTEST OF OHIO SQUADS TO BE SATURDAY

By International News Service
Everything was set for the deciding game of the Ohio Conference basketball circuit today as Wooster recorded a tuneup victory over Penn by a 67 to 27 score. The Wooster Scots play Mt. Union, winners of seven straight conference games, Saturday night.

Wooster, however, has lost one contest in conference play.

Meanwhile, Bowling Green recorded its sixth conference victory in 13 starts, a 50 to 46 win over Otterbein. The Beegees led throughout the first half, but were forced to stage a rally in the last minutes to defeat the victory-hungry visitors. Forward Dewey Johnson led the Bowling Green scoring with 19 points but was followed closely by Augspurger of Otterbein who collected 16 points.

In the only other conference game played last night, Heidelberg chalked up its fourth win in 12 games at the expense of Kenyon, winners of only one game in league play. The Tiffin boys won easily by a 64 to 44 score. It was Kenyon's sixth loss in the conference.

In other games in Ohio last night, Cedarville pinned back Bluffton's ears by a 52 to 43 score.

C. A. C. CAGERS TO MEET COLUMBUS AUTO PARTS

TONY ZALE PUTS TITLE AT STAKE IN CHICAGO RING

CHICAGO, Feb. 21—Tony Zale, the Gary, Ind., graduate of the steel mills, risks his National Boxing Association middleweight crown tonight against aggressive young Steve Mamakos handsome Washington, D. C. Greek, in the first 15-round bout between 160-pounders in Illinois since legalization of boxing in 1926.

Zale will enter the ring at just about 160 pounds, while the challenger is expected to weigh 156.

Tonight's affair is a return match between the fighters. Zale won a split decision from Mamakos in the Chicago Stadium, scene of the title fight, last January 10, and it was his showing in that meeting that won the challenger his shot at the crown.

A crowd of more than 10,000 was predicted for the battle, but the tempo of advance ticket sales has given the impression that the fans are as interested, and possibly more so, in the semi-windup ten-round fight between Al Hostak of Seattle and George Burnette of Detroit. Sales spurted after the Hostak-Burnette mix was arranged. In his meeting with the Detroit battler, Hostak is aiming for another chance at the title he relinquished to Zale, and the bout also will be a stern test for Hostak's brittle hands, which cost him the championship.

Another ten-rounder on the program will send Althus Allen, 1939 international Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, against Gunnar Barlund of Finland. The six-round opener puts Howard Williams, Detroit heavyweight, against Henry Wacker of Chicago.

DATES ASSIGNED TO BEULAH PARK FOR 1941 RACING

COLUMBUS, Feb. 21—Beulah Park, at nearby Grove City, will inaugurate Ohio's 1941 season of running races, Saturday, May 3, when a 25-day meeting is to get under way, it was announced today. A fall meeting at the park will be held from August 30 to September 20.

These dates were announced by Helen E. Rickett, secretary of the state racing commission.

Thistle Down, near Cleveland, has been granted dates of July 1 to August 16, inclusive, for a 41-day meeting.

NEW CARLISLE PUT OUT OF STATE COURT RACE

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 21—New Carlisle, defending state Class "B" champions, was out of the running for the 1941 title today, following its upset by Plattsburg in the Clark County tourney. Plattsburg turned on the heat to defeat the defending champs, 28 to 23. All-Ohio center Morris scored nine points for New Carlisle but it wasn't enough. Blauser led the scoring for the winners with eight points.

Perry Township Youngsters Lose Long Lead To Drop Overtime Joust

Before a capacity crowd at the Perry Township gymnasium, Pickaway County schools opened their 1941 basketball tournament Thursday evening with New Holland, Washington, Salt Creek and Scioto winning over Darby, Walnut, Perry and Jackson respectively.

Results of Thursday night's games make the Friday's tournament schedule read as follows:

New Holland vs. Monroe at 7 p. m. and Washington vs. Deer Creek at 9 p. m., Deer Creek and Scioto reserves playing at 8.

After trailing its opponents for three quarters Salt Creek's varsity nosed out Perry, winning in the overtime period 33-31.

The Atlanta boys were off to a quick start in the opening period, finding the hoop three times before the first Salt Creek score, and keeping a comfortable margin, 11 to 6, at the end of the first quarter. Both teams picked up six more points in the second quarter, the score reading 17-12, Perry, at half time. In the third quarter, Salt Creek pressed the home team hard, making the score 23-18, Perry at the end of the quarter.

Each team continued to score from short shots under the basket as the game went into final minutes, when with two minutes to play John Spencer pulled his Salt Creek team out in front with a field goal, making the score 28-27. Edwin Maddox tied the score for Atlanta with a foul as the final quarter ended.

Canter Hits Hoop

In the two minute overtime, Quesberry found the hoop for a Perry tally, but Jones came back quickly with one for Salt Creek. Maddox cashed in on a foul shot to put Perry in the lead 31-30, but Fred Canter came back with a foul and a field goal to clinch the tilt for Salt Creek.

Scioto's team, picked as a favorite over Jackson, found the Jackson five a stubborn team, and trailed by a score of 6 to 7 at half time. Jackson took the lead as the game opened, scoring a goal early in the first quarter, and adding five more before the half. Scioto picked up six in the first two periods.

Scioto Hot At Finish

In the third quarter, Scioto pulled ahead by six points, but Jackson came back in the final quarter and pushed its score to 15 one under its opponents, as the clock read four minutes to play. Each team added a basket in the next minute, but Scioto leaped ahead with three more goals before the final gun. The final score was 24-17 in favor of Scioto.

In the opening game of the tournament New Holland pulled its game with Darby out of the fire in the final quarter, winning 27-16.

The Darby five showed strength early in the game and took the lead in the first quarter 4 to 2, continuing to hold it in the second quarter with field goals from well out in the floor, making the score 7 to 4 at the half. Plenty of ball handling and few scores for either team featured the first half.

The New Holland offense turned on in the third quarter, breaking through for close shots under the basket to come out ahead at the end of the third quarter 15 to 13, and continuing to widen its margin in the final quarter as Darby tried desperately for long goals to pull himself into winning position, but was unable to score in the first half of the final quarter.

Hart finally broke the spell for Darby, but Stout and Hill continued to score, the final gun bringing the score, 27-16.

Stout, Pearce and Hill lead the scoring for New Holland with

The Pickaway County team in the Ohio State University Intramural cage league placed second in the finals played Wednesday. During the last six weeks the Pickaway Countians have defeated Ashtabula, Holmes, Delaware and Adams Counties, losing only to Fairfield.

On the team are George Wilson and Roger May of Pickaway Township, Gene Ebert of New Holland, John Peck of Atlanta and Bob Hammon of Williamsport.

Tracy, Liff and Graessle contributing most to the Darby score. Washington Township took a victory from Walnut taking the lead early in the first quarter and adding to it freely during the entire game. The final score was 42-23.

Cook and Calvert sunk long ones early in the fourth quarter to pull Walnut to within 13 points of Washington, but its defense failed to keep Washington forwards from breaking through for easy shots under the basket. Chester Wertman and Paul Matz with ten goals between them kept the Washington team well out in front throughout the game. Cook, Campbell, and Calvert led the scoring for Walnut.

Undeclared Greenfield Five Puts Big Win String On Block

Circleville school officials are planning for a capacity crowd Friday night when Greenfield's undefeated McClain varsity invades the Circleville Athletic Club gymnasium to do battle with Roy Black's Red and Black quintet.

Greenfield, led by Don Grate and Eldon Newland, two of Ohio's finest cagers, has won 13 consecutive games, and has not even been pressed closely by any foe.

Coach Black has been working his boys hard in an effort to stop the Greenfield offensive that has been averaging about 50 points a game. All his boys are in good shape and ready for anything.

Lineups are expected to be: Circleville: Greenfield Woods, F., Newland, F., Valentine, F., Davis, F., Moorehead, C., Grate, G., Geib, G., P. Orr, Riley, Referee: Woodward, Michigan State.

A reserve game scheduled at 7 o'clock will start festivities.

PATSY PERRONI MAY BE BOMBER'S FOE IN APRIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Patsy Peroni may be substituted for Arturo Godoy as an opponent so that Joe Louis can have his April workout as planned, according to boxing talk here today.

Godoy rejected a bout with Louis on the west coast to make some movies in South America. The talk now is that Peroni will be matched with the challenger for Atlantic City in April.

Perroni went 10 rounds with Louis in 1935.

CHIOZZA'S LEG INJURY HEALS; TERRY PLEASED

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21—Manager Bill Terry of the Giants proclaimed his pleasure today over the spryness displayed by Lou Chiozza at the first fielding practice of spring training.

Chiozza, who was inactive last year because of a broken leg, showed no ill effects of the injury as he cavorted over the diamond.

Terry plans to split the team into two squads and play a nine-inning game Sunday.

REDS, DODGERS TO WIN TITLE?

Baseball Season Nearing; Cleveland, New York In American?

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, Feb. 21—The Cincinnati Reds or the Brooklyn Dodgers will win the National League pennant.

The Cleveland Indians or the New York Yankees will win in the American League.

This already is the tenor of baseball pieces coming out of the training camps as veterans and rookies begin to stretch their muscles and fit themselves into the picture dominated by the shining regulars who have all that ginger and zip.

It is customary to announce to the surprise of none at this time of the year that baseball is just around the corner, leaving open to further developments answers to such questions as these:

Can Freddie Fitzsimmons of the Dodgers win 16 against two defeats again this year and if so will it make any difference considering what the Reds have to offer on the mound in the National League race?

The Reds got 58 victories from Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer and Junior Thomas last season and all the Reds need to come through again is approximately the same from their three so-called musketeers, who also won the world championship over the Detroit Tigers.

New, let's take a look at the American League, and start with the Indians. They have just about everything including Bob Feller, and may be reaching a peak when the rest of the clubs are floundering. That should mean something.

If the Indians should miss, then how about the Yankees? The latter have great young talent coming up and are eager if not determined to get back in the place they held until last season, the same being on top.

Behind all that come, the Detroit Tigers, champions of the American League last season, who carried the Reds seven games in the World Series. What about them? Nothing except that everybody says they can't win again, which would mean that they will do it anyhow just as many a team has come from nowhere to make mugs out of those who tossed around the ridicule.

By International News Service
Everything was set for the deciding game of the Ohio Conference basketball circuit today as Wooster recorded a tuneup victory over Penn by a 67 to 27 score. The Wooster Scots play Mt. Union, winners of seven straight conference games, Saturday night.

Wooster, however, has lost one contest in conference play.

The Beegoes led throughout the first half, but were forced to stage a rally in the last minutes to defeat the victory-hungry visitors. Forward Dewey Johnson led the Bowling Green scoring with 19 points but was followed closely by Augspurger of Otterbein who collected 16 points.

In the only other conference game played last night, Heidelberg chalked up its fourth win in 12 games at the expense of Kenyon, winners of only one game in league play. The Tiffin boys won easily by a 64 to 44 score. It was Kenyon's sixth loss in the conference.

In other games in Ohio last night, Cedarville pinned back Bluffton's ears by a 52 to 43 score.

OPEN LETTERS

TO ALL CITIZENS

FRIENDS: The other day directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society determined that the best way to decide whether free acts should be included in next fall's Pumpkin Show would be to ask persons who attend the festival to cast ballots on the question. Following up this decision the directors inserted a ballot in The Daily Herald which they asked persons interested to fill out and send or deliver to one of several uptown places. I understand that very few ballots have been turned in, and because of this apparent lack of interest that a fair cross section of public opinion cannot be gained. The free act question is a paramount issue as far as the Pumpkin Show is concerned because it entails expenditure of several hundred dollars. Directors of the show voted to abandon free acts, but later several of the directors urged that the action be reconsidered. Because of this request the public ballot was urged. Time remains for additional ballots to be cast, and I hope that any person who wishes to express an opinion will mark one of the ballots and see that it is delivered to one of the places named on the blank. The Pumpkin Show is a Circleville and Pickaway County undertaking and all of us should show enough interest to assist the directors in their effort to provide a Pumpkin Show that will meet with public approval.

TO HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS

BOYS: Congratulations go to Pickaway and Deer Creek Township boys for winning the County League and County Reserve League basketball titles, respectively. The former went through the season with only one black spot on its record, that defeat being by the margin of a single field goal; the latter completed its County League record without a single blemish. Year after year Pickaway County produces some of the finest basketball teams found in any other county of our size. I feel certain that each community feels proud of the high school team that represents it. Because the school is so much more the center of activity in a rural district than it is in a more urban center, parents and other friends of the boys have a closer association, athletically, with the youngsters who comprise the teams than they do in larger centers. Because of this fact a winning basketball team does something to the folk back home. They feel that success for their teams is a certain flower in their own caps, and it surely is. Pickaway County schools have coaching staffs that rank with the best in Ohio. Every coach has proved himself a gentleman throughout the entire season, and plaudits must be given to the superintendents who recommended them and to the various school boards for hiring the instructors, who are teaching the youngsters in their charge how to win and to lose and to be good sports no matter which one may be their lot.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CORN, SOYBEAN OFFICIALS

COMMITTEEMEN: Last Friday and Saturday you held, from the standpoint of number and quality of entries, a show which was outstanding. Many of the 170 corn entries were described by authorities as worthy of state recognition, and the soybean displays, although cut in number by an unfavorable 1940 season, were better in quality than those of last year. The show was disappointing, however, from the standpoint of attendance, and officials are still puzzled over attendance figures for Friday afternoon and all day Saturday. Those of you who did not attend, and who are interested in your community, missed seeing Pickaway County agriculture at its best. Congratulations go to Irvin Yeoman and L. R. McCoy, who carried off sweepstakes awards, and to all others who participated. The banquet program was one to be remembered for many days to come, and I feel certain that another Corn and Soybean Show next year will be even a greater success.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SELECTIVE SERVICE BOARD

OFFICERS: The impartiality you have shown in classifying the county's registrants has brought the criticism from some that your board is "hard boiled." Still your decisions have been upheld in all cases by the board of appeals indicating that your decisions have been made according to the strict interpretation of the law, and not according to pressure exerted from the outside. It is impossible to satisfy everyone, but you will satisfy a majority by basing your decisions on the same principles you have in the past. The draft system, which on the surface seems entangled in "red tape," has been operated with surprising efficiency by your body. At the present time 150 men have been classified, given physical examinations, and made ready for service. Operating in such a manner, you will have no trouble in filling your quotas as they occur.

CIRCUITEER.

TO COUNCIL

SIRS: Your continued postponement of any action on the liquor ordinance to determine closing hours tends to indicate that some of you are fearful of being placed on record as being either for or against the measure. For three consecutive meetings, and for no obvious reason, you have sent the proposal back to the ordinance committee, refusing to call for a vote. Whether or not it should be passed or rejected is not the issue, because as representatives of the citizenry you are granted the privilege of voting either way. But as official spokesmen for both the liquor establishments and for the public in general, it is your duty to vote. The subject has been placed before you time and again, but always you have pushed it into a committee where it has died, making of it a "football" and giving both opponents and advocates the impression that you consider the whole subject a farce. Your action on the ordinance is being watched with public interest.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles F. Stewart

IS DOCTORING a trade, a profession or a business?
If it's a trade it appears that the American Medical association, a couple of its affiliates, five of its officers and 15 of its rank-and-file members, now on trial in Washington on charges of having violated the Sherman anti-trust law, can't be convicted.
According to the United States supreme court, with a dissenting opinion or two, legislation against monopolistic practices doesn't apply to trade unions. So, if the medicating and surgical craft is a trade, the accused docs can't very well be found guilty, because the assumption is that the A. M. A. is a union rather than a professional or commercial organization.
But if the docs are professionals or businessmen, not mere skilled laborers, and if it's proved that they really have tried to smother competition, then they're liable to be socked under the Sherman act.
John Henry Lewin, as a special assistant attorney general, is pushing the prosecution for the federal justice department, but the department launched the case at the behest of what's known as the Group Health association. It's a co-operative outfit created about three years ago by a combination of federal employees, with a view to getting themselves, doctored at their joint expense whenever they needed doctoring. The group's members ante regularly into a common pot and the docs are paid out of it.

A. M. A. VERSUS G. H. A.
Prosecutor Lewin's story is that the A. M. A., scenting prospective competition, began fighting the G. H. A. before it ever succeeded in getting into full operation. Nevertheless, the latter finally perfected itself and opened a clinic in the capital. Also, when a group member committed himself to the care of a non-G. H. A. hospital he wanted a G. H. A. doctor to attend him there.
Thereupon, says Prosecutor Lewin, A. M. A. docs began warning their kind of hospitals not to allow G. H. A. docs on their premises.
Furthermore it's charged that, when a G. H. A. doc occasionally needed help or advice from some A. M. A. specialist, the A. M. A. practitioner sabotaged the patient by delay or deliberate bungling.
The A. M. A.'s version is that its docs don't like to associate with the G. H. A.'s because the group's bunch are punk as doctors. It maintains further that the G. H. A. plan involves the socialization of medicine and surgery, and a decided lowering of their present standard. It isn't solely a Washington row, either. The A. M. A.'s scope is national and the G. H. A. is spreading all over the country.

The indicted physicians (yes, it's a criminal trial, for conspiracy) includes General Manager Olin West of the American Medical association, Editor Morris Fishbein of its official journal, and a lot of Chicagoans as well as Washingtonians.
LONG TRIAL FORESEEN
The trial's due to take weeks in the District of Columbia court and after that the case will be appealed, of course.
To begin with, if the prosecution's successful, it will have to prove that the accused docs really did conspire. Then, if they did, the defense's contention will be that they didn't conspire to do anything unlawful.
They did (if convicted) if the A.M.A.'s business setup is like the Standard Oil company or some such corporation. Perhaps they did if they're professionals; that issue hasn't yet been ruled on. But they didn't if they're a trade union; not if the United States stands pat on its majority decision in what's known as the Hutcheson case.

Doctor's Trade Mark

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
● The trade mark of the general practitioner is the little black hand bag. We hope it will never disappear and he will never go out of business. The high cost of medical care of which we hear so much nowadays is mostly due to the fact that a doctor wants to get a place on the staff of an expensive hospital worse than he wants to get a little black bag. Every doctor knows that expensive and elaborate examinations and expensive and elaborate methods of treatment are unnecessary in the majority of cases, and if he can talk the patient into allowing simple remedies to be applied, expense can be avoided and just as good results obtained.
As an indication that this is the view of good doctors in official positions, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the "Journal of the American Medical Association," said not long ago, "85 per cent of the diseases for which patients consult doctors are of the type which the general practitioner can handle with the amount of equipment that he can carry in his handbag."

Dr. Cabot Disagrees
In commenting on this statement, Dr. Hugh Cabot, who opposes many of the methods Dr. Fishbein stands for, said, "We shall, I think, be on solid ground in asserting that this statement never was true and that it is even less true today. I am unaware of any evidence which would support Dr. Fishbein's position."
In an effort to supply evidence for Dr. Cabot the medical men of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, tabulated 200 cases each. Of the 1,000 patients thus seen or visited, $48, or 4.8 per cent, had been called for without any other equipment than the contents of a handbag.
The contents of a modern doctor's handbag includes, remember, for diagnostic purposes: a thermometer, a stethoscope to listen to the heart and lungs, a blood pressure apparatus, tongue depressors and a light to look in the throat, an otoscope to look in the ear, and an ophthalmoscope to look in the eye, glass slides and a color scale to make elementary blood tests and culture smears.
For treatment, it contains a hypodermic syringe, half a dozen emergency drugs and a prescription pad.
Home Medical Aids
And it must be assumed that besides what he has in his handbag the doctor will find in the home an enema bag, hot and cold water so that he can make a compress, a bath tub so he can give a medicinal bath, mustard for a mustard plaster, and that he will know how to give these treatments and also can give some massage, manipulations and psychotherapy. With such equipment it would be seldom indeed that the doctor would have to send the patient to the hospital for basal metabolic tests, elaborate blood tests, electrocardiographic tracings of the heart, or even (though this may be an exception) X-ray plates.

What I am wondering is, if we included the patients who are treated out of the family medicine case without having a doctor at all, and added them to the handbag treatment, what would the percentage be?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

K. L.: "Does cream or milk used in hot tea have any effect on the digestive organs of the stomach?"
Answer—It has no more effect than cream and milk which is not in tea, and has no bad effect on the stomach whatever.
M. R.: "(1) What is the correct way to clean the teeth? (2) What is the correct home eye treatment?"
Answer—(1) For correct cleaning of the teeth a small toothbrush is better than a large one. The tooth paste or powder used is not of importance. The teeth should be brushed systematically, beginning in front at the upper left, going across in front, to upper right, and then brushing the back of the teeth from the upper right to the upper left. Repeat on the lower jaw. As one dentist says, it is like painting a picket fence—very picket, front and back and sides. The brush should be placed at the gum margin and a firm, pressing, rotary motion used. (2) Home treatment for the eyes. The eyes do not need any regular hygiene other than simple cleansing of the lid margins at the morning toilet to remove the dried mucus. The tear ducts cleanse the surface of the eyeball, in all circumstances but very severe dust storms. Daily treatments to the eye, as with an eye cup, are likely to do more harm than good.

"It does," said Eve. She giggled her toes experimentally. "And thanks a lot, Mr.—"
"Randall," said Joel. "Joel Randall."
"Thank you a lot, Mr. Randall." "You're more than welcome, Miss Allgood."

The girl smiled. "It sounds sorter nice when you say it, Joel," she said.

Gosh, all-hemlock, he thought, he had to get rid of the girl before Bill got back from Asheville. She was too darned attractive and charming a person to be there when Bill returned. He knew Bill. "Oh, thanks!" said Eve. "You must let me come and help you get them ready."
"No," said Joel, "you sit there and take care of the ankle. . . . I can manage. Besides, my lean-to kitchen is pretty small." He smiled at the girl upon the bunk and walked to the door opening into the kitchen. "I won't be gone long."
Eve smiled back at him.
"Joel Randall," she said very softly, "you're sweet."
And as Joel went on about the business of preparing lunch for his guest and himself he had a funny sort of feeling in the region of his heart. Darned if he could ever remember anyone telling him he was "sweet." That is, no one but Aunt Sallie. And the way Eve Allgood looked when she said it.

TO ALL CITIZENS

FRIENDS: The other day directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society determined that the best way to decide whether free acts should be included in next fall's Pumpkin Show would be to ask persons who attend the festival to cast ballots on the question. Following up this decision the directors inserted a ballot in The Daily Herald which they asked persons interested to fill out and send or deliver to one of several uptown places. I understand that very few ballots have been turned in, and because of this apparent lack of interest that a fair cross section of public opinion cannot be gained. The free act question is a paramount issue as far as the Pumpkin Show is concerned because it entails expenditure of several hundred dollars. Directors of the show voted to abandon free acts, but later several of the directors urged that the action be reconsidered. Because of this request the public ballot was urged. Time remains for additional ballots to be cast, and I hope that any person who wishes to express an opinion will mark one of the ballots and see that it is delivered to one of the places named on the blank. The Pumpkin Show is a Circleville and Pickaway County undertaking and all of us should show enough interest to assist the directors in their effort to provide a Pumpkin Show that will meet with public approval.

TO HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS

BOYS: Congratulations go to Pickaway and Deer Creek Township boys for winning the County League and County Reserve League basketball titles, respectively. The former went through the season with only one black spot on its record, that defeat being by the margin of a single field goal; the latter completed its County League record without a single blemish. Year after year Pickaway County produces some of the finest basketball teams found in any other county of our size. I feel certain that each community feels proud of the high school team that represents it. Because the school is so much more the center of activity in a rural district than it is in a more urban center, parents and other friends of the boys have a closer association, athletically, with the youngsters who comprise the teams than they do in larger centers. Because of this fact a winning basketball team does something to the folk back home. They feel that success for their teams is a certain flower in their own caps, and it surely is. Pickaway County schools have coaching

WORLD AT A GLANCE

IS DOCTORING a trade, a profession or a business?

If it's a trade it appears that the American Medical Association, a couple of its affiliates, five of its officers and 15 of its rank-and-file members, now on trial in Washington on charges of having violated the Sherman anti-trust law, can't be convicted.

According to the United States supreme court, with a dissenting opinion or two, legislation against monopolistic practices doesn't apply to trade unions. So, if the medicating and surgical craft is a trade, the accused docs can't very well be found guilty, because the assumption is that the A. M. A. is a union rather than a professional or commercial organization.

But if the docs are professionals or businessmen, not mere skilled laborers, and if it's proved that they really have tried to smother competition, then they're liable to be socked under the Sherman act.

John Henry Lewin, as a special assistant attorney general, is pushing the prosecution for the federal justice department, but the department launched the case at the behest of what's known as the Group Health Association. It's a co-operative outfit created about three years ago by a combination of federal employees, with a view to getting themselves, doctored at their joint expense whenever they needed doctored. The group's members ante regularly into a common pot and the docs are paid out of it.

A. M. A. VERSUS G. H. A.

Prosecutor Lewin's story is that the A. M. A., scenting prospective competition, began fighting the G. H. A. before it ever succeeded in getting into full operation. Nevertheless, the latter finally perfected itself and opened a clinic in the capital. Also, when a group member committed himself to the care of a non-G. H. A. hospital he wanted a G. H. A. doctor to attend him there.

Thereupon, says Prosecutor Lewin, A. M. A. docs began warning their kind of hospitals not to allow G. H. A. docs on their premises.

Furthermore it's charged that, when a G. H. A. doc occasionally needed help or advice from some A. M. A. specialist, the A. M. A. practitioner sabotaged the patient by delay or deliberate bungling.

The A. M. A.'s version is that it does not like to associate with the G. H. A.'s because the group's bunch are punk as doctors. It maintains further that the G. H. A. plan involves the socialization of medicine and surgery, and a decided lowering of their present standard. It isn't solely a Washington row, either. The A. M. A.'s scope is national and the G. H. A. is spreading all over the country.

The indicted physicians (yes, it's a criminal trial, for conspiracy) includes General Manager Olin West of the American Medical Association, Editor Morris Fishbein of its official journal, and a lot of Chicagoans as well as Washingtonians.

LONG TRIAL FORESEEN

The trial's due to take weeks in the District of Columbia court and after that the case will be appealed, of course.

To begin with, if the prosecution's successful, it will have to prove that the accused docs really did conspire. Then, if they did, the defense's contention will be that they didn't conspire to do anything unlawful.

They did (if convicted) if the A. M. A.'s business setup is like the Standard Oil company or some such corporation. Perhaps they did if they're professionals; that issue hasn't yet been ruled on. But they didn't if they're a trade union; not if the United States stands pat on its majority decision in what's known as the Hutcheson case.

TO CORN, SOYBEAN OFFICIALS

COMMITTEEMEN: Last Friday and Saturday you held, from the standpoint of number and quality of entries, a show which was outstanding. Many of the 170 corn entries were described by authorities as worthy of state recognition, and the soybean displays, although cut in number by an unfavorable 1940 season, were better in quality than those of last year. The show was disappointing, however, from the standpoint of attendance, and officials are still puzzled over attendance figures for Friday afternoon and all day Saturday. Those of you who did not attend, and who are interested in your community, missed seeing Pickaway County agriculture at its best. Congratulations go to Irvin Yeoman and L. R. McCoy, who carried off sweepstakes awards, and to all others who participated. The banquet program was one to be remembered for many days to come, and I feel certain that another Corn and Soybean Show next year will be even a greater success.

TO SELECTIVE SERVICE BOARD

OFFICERS: The impartiality you have shown in classifying the county's registrants has brought the criticism from some that your board is "hard boiled." Still your decisions have been upheld in all cases by the board of appeals indicating that your decisions have been made according to the strict interpretation of the law, and not according to pressure exerted from the outside. It is impossible to satisfy everyone, but you will satisfy a majority by basing your decisions on the same principles you have in the past. The draft system, which on the surface seems entangled in "red tape," has been operated with surprising efficiency by your body. At the present time 150 men have been classified, given physical examinations, and made ready for service. Operating in such a manner, you will have no trouble in filling your quotas as they occur.

CIRCUITEER.

TO COUNCIL

SIRS: Your continued postponement of any action on the liquor ordinance to determine closing hours tends to indicate that some of you are fearful of being placed on record as being either for or against the measure. For three consecutive meetings, and for no obvious reason, you have sent the proposal back to the ordinance committee, refusing to call for a vote. Whether or not it should be passed or rejected is not the issue, because as representatives of the citizenry you are granted the privilege of voting either way. But as official spokesmen for both the liquor establishments and for the public in general, it is your duty to vote. The subject has been placed before you time and again, but always you have pushed it into a committee where it has died, making of it a "football" and giving both opponents and advocates the impression that you consider the whole subject a farce. Your action on the ordinance is being watched with public interest.

Doctor's Trade Mark

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● The trade mark of the general practitioner is the little black hand bag. We hope it will never disappear and he will never go out of business. The high cost of medical care of which we hear so much nowadays is mostly due to the fact that a doctor wants to get a place on the staff of an expensive hospital worse than he wants to get a little black bag. Every doctor knows that expensive and elaborate examinations and expensive and elaborate methods of treatment are unnecessary in the majority of cases, and if he can talk the patient into allowing simple remedies to be applied, expense can be avoided and just as good results obtained.

As an indication that this is the view of good doctors in official positions, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the "Journal of the American Medical Association," said not long ago, "85 per cent of the diseases for which patients consult doctors are of the type which the general practitioner can handle with the amount of equipment that he can carry in his handbag."

Dr. Cabot Disagrees
In commenting on this statement, Dr. Hugh Cabot, who opposes many of the methods Dr. Fishbein stands for, said, "We shall, I think, be on solid ground in asserting that this statement never was true and that it is even less true today. I am unaware of any evidence which would support Dr. Fishbein's position."

In an effort to supply evidence for Dr. Cabot the medical men of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, tabulated 200 cases each. Of the 1,000 patients thus seen or visited, 848, or 84.8 per cent, had been called for without any other equipment than the contents of a handbag.

The contents of a modern doctor's handbag includes, remember, for diagnostic purposes: a thermometer, a stethoscope to listen to the heart and lungs, a blood pressure apparatus, tongue depressors and a light to look in the throat, an otoscope to look in the ear, and an ophthalmoscope to look in the eye, glass slides and a color scale to make elementary blood tests and culture smears.

For treatment, it contains a hypodermic syringe, half a dozen emergency drugs and a prescription pad.

Home Medical Aids
And it must be assumed that besides what he has in his handbag the doctor will find in the home an enema bag, hot and cold water so that he can make a compress, a bath tub so he can give a medicinal bath, mustard for a mustard plaster, and that he will know how to give these treatments and also can give some massage, manipulations and psychotherapy.

With such equipment it would be seldom indeed that the doctor would have to send the patient to the hospital for basal metabolic tests, elaborate blood tests, electrocardiographic tracings of the heart, or even (though this may be an exception) X-ray plates.

What I am wondering is, if we included the patients who are treated out of the family medicine case without having a doctor at all, and added them to the handbag treatment, what would the percentage be?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
K. L.: "Does cream or milk used in hot tea have any effect on the digestive organs of the stomach?"

Answer—It has no more effect than cream and milk which is not in tea, and has no bad effect on the stomach whatever.

M. R.: "(1) What is the correct way to clean the teeth? (2) What is the correct home eye treatment?"

Answer—(1) For correct cleaning of the teeth a small toothbrush is better than a large one. The tooth paste or powder used is not of importance. The teeth should be brushed systematically, beginning in front at the upper left, going across in front, to upper right, and then brushing the back of the teeth from the upper right to the upper left. Repeat on the lower jaw. As one dentist says, it is like painting a picket fence—every picket, front and back and sides. The brush should be placed at the gum margin and a firm, pressing, rotary motion used. (2) Home treatment for the eyes. The eyes do not need any regular hygienic other than simple cleansing of the lid margins at the morning toilet to remove the dried mucus. The tear ducts cleanse the surface of the eyeball, in all circumstances but very severe dust storms. Daily treatments to the eye, as with an eye cup, are likely to do more harm than good.

EVELESS EDEN

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS
BILL LATHAM, young novelist, after having been jilted a few seconds before he was to have been married, and

JOEL RANDALL, his older cousin, go to an old North Carolina mountain cabin, once owned by Joel's late uncle, for a vacation.

YESTERDAY: Bill drives down to Asheville, leaving Joel alone.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

SOON JOEL was completely lost in what he was doing—checking reports, reading suggestions made by various workmen in the mills, and visualizing a sort of ideal village around the Randall Mills, a village that would serve as a pattern for other mill owners to follow. The minutes quickly became hours, and it was one o'clock before he realized it; one o'clock and past time for lunch. There were eggs and bacon, and there were canned beans. Which ought he fix? Let's see, he and Bill had had beans the night before, so maybe some scrambled eggs would do—and some of that blackberry jelly Aunt Sallie had made and which she insisted that he bring along with him.

Yes, coffee, toast, scrambled eggs, bacon, and blackberry jelly. That would be his menu for lunch. And darned if he couldn't do justice to it, too. This mountain air certainly did things to a man's appetite. He rolled up the blueprints, stacked the suggestions and reports, and pushed back his chair.

It was then that he heard the new noise—the noise that was high above that made by the summer insects and the birds.

"Help! Help!"

There it was again.

"Help! Help!"

And the voice was that of a woman! Ye gods and little fishes! Joel sprang quickly to his feet. He ran out upon the porch. There, shading his eyes against the sun, he peered down the narrow road.

"Help! Help!" said the voice with great urgency. "Here I am!"

Joel turned. The cry came from the direction of the vegetable garden. He again shaded his eyes. And then he saw her.

She was sitting upon the running board of a battered old car that had just missed turning completely over. She was holding a foot between her two hands and swaying back and forth as though she were in pain.

"Darn!" Joel exclaimed as he realized that the car was sitting right in the middle of his collards.

"Well, don't just stand there looking," said the girl when he saw him. "Come and help me."

"Coming!" said Joel.

And he ran down the steps, across the yard and down the garden path.

"What happened?" he asked breathlessly when he reached the girl's side.

"I jumped," said the girl, "when I thought the car was turning over,

and—I've hurt my foot."

"But how in the devil did your car get here?"

"I got panicky and put my foot on the gas instead of the brake," the girl replied. "A rabbit ran across the road and I didn't want to hit him. And—and—I kept right on going." She eyed the garden ruefully. "And look what I did to your vegetables."

"Both the vegetables," said Joel. "It's you I'm thinking about. Let's have a look at that foot." He dropped on his knee beside her, and after an expert examination, he said: "I'll have to carry you up to the cabin, unless you can walk."

"I'm afraid I can't do that," the girl said. She put her foot down upon the ground and winced.

"Ouch!"

"All right, I'll carry you," said Joel. "I can bind up your ankle better inside."

The girl looked up and smiled.

"Shall I put my arm around your neck?" she asked.

"Of course," said Joel.

"Then you'll have to stoop down closer."

Joel stooped. And he was amazed at the way he felt when the girl's arm slipped around his neck—when her cheek touched his own.

"I hope I'm not going to be too heavy," she said.

"I think not," Joel straightened up, holding the girl very close and noting, as he did so, that she used an extremely effective perfume.

"Comfortable?"

"Oh, yes—I rather like it. So sort of old-world, and all that. We modern girls seldom get such attention." The girl laughed softly.

"Sprained ankles have been done to death in the movies and fiction. I'm sorry I wasn't more original."

"Yes," said Joel, "you might have broken your neck. That would have been different. But let's be grateful it wasn't your neck."

He lifted her and moved up the garden path. "I'll have you fixed up in a jiffy, Miss—"

"Allgood," said the girl. "Eve Allgood."

"You're kidding!" said Joel.

"Why on earth should I kid about my own name?"

"I mean the—the-Eve part of it."

"I don't understand."

Joel grinned.

"This," he said, "is supposed to be an Eveless Eden."

"Oh, I see," said the girl. "It is funny, isn't it—me entering the scene like this?"

"It is that," said Joel. "And you'd have to have the name of Eve."

"Sorry," said the girl. "If I've spoiled things for you. You may call me Lizzie."

He reached the cabin porch and mounted the steps. "Eve will do nicely, thank you."

Then, oddly enough, as he entered the living room of the cabin he found himself feeling a decided sense of satisfaction in its neatness. He was glad that he and Bill had done such a good job of house cleaning. And then he was annoyed with himself for caring a darn whether the girl liked the place or not.

He deposited her upon the lower bunk and went to a chest of drawers to get a roll of tape.

Eve Allgood washed him. "You seem to be prepared for such emergencies as this," she said.

"Oh, a little first-aid training and a medical kit come in handy when one is living in such an isolated spot," said Joel. He rejoined her and was soon busy binding up the injured foot. "There," he announced presently, "that ought to make it feel much stronger."

"It does," said Eve. She giggled her toes experimentally. "And thanks a lot, Mr.—"

"Randall," said Joel. "Joel Randall."

"Thank you a lot, Mr. Randall."

"You're more than welcome, Miss Allgood."

"Go on, call me Lizzie, if you like."

"I will not—Eve."

The girl smiled. "It sounds sort of nice when you say it, Joel," she said.

"Thanks, Eve," said Joel. And then he thought of Bill.

Gosh, all-hemlock, he thought, he had to get rid of the girl before Bill got back from Asheville. She was too darned attractive and charming a person to be there when Bill returned. He knew Bill. Eve spoke just then.

"I'm hungry," she said.

Joel gave her a quick look—but he hesitated about inviting her to have lunch with him.

"Darned nifty of me, I suppose," Eve went on. "But I AM hungry. This mountain air—"

"Like scrambled eggs?" Joel asked.

"Love 'em," said Eve.

"Like toast and blackberry jelly?"

"Adore 'em."

"Drink coffee?"

"Reared on it."

"Then you can stay to lunch," said Joel. "Coffee, jelly, toast and scrambled eggs are all on the menu."

"Oh, thanks!" said Eve. "You must let me come and help you get them ready."

"No," said Joel. "You sit there and take care of the ankle. . . . I can manage. Besides, my lean-to kitchen is pretty small. He smiled at the girl upon the bunk and walked to the door opening into the kitchen. "I won't be gone long."

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. M. Dewitt Moore of Chicago, Ill., and John Foster Bales of Atlanta, Ga., were to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bales of East Main Street. Mr. Moore was to be best man at the wedding of Miss Ellen Bennett and Mr. Albert E. M. Louer.

Mrs. Howard Orr underwent an operation in Berger Hospital.

10 YEARS AGO

John G. Ward, former deputy sheriff, a special investigator out of the prosecuting attorney's office, was notified of his appointment as prohibition inspector in the Prohibition Commissioner Clarence Sears' office in Columbus.

Hints on Etiquette

No matter how intimate a friend you are of a family, don't comment unfavorably on any of the furnishing of their home. If you can't admire them, say nothing. Their taste may be different from yours, and then maybe they don't like the article either, but must make it do at least for the time.

Words of Wisdom

If good people would but make their goodness agreeable, and smile instead of frowning in their virtue, how many would they win to the good cause.—Usher.</

18 More Countians To Be Called For Duty March 10

Draft Board Receives New Unofficial Notice From State Authorities

SPEED UP IS PREDICTED

Questionnaires Being Put In Mails At Rate Of 100 Each Week

Selective Service officials received unofficial notice from state draft headquarters Friday that the county would be asked for 18 men on the period beginning March 10. When and if the notice is made official, it will be the second largest contingent sent from the county under the Selective Service Act. Thirty-four men, the county's largest quota, were sent to Fort Hayes on February 6.

It is generally believed that the county's March quota will reach nearly 60, although no official reports have confirmed that number. Local draft officials already have received official notice to send 10 men to state headquarters on March 7. The March 7 call will probably exhaust the county's volunteer list and necessitate the drafting of first registrants. Draft Board officials believe, and, although the volunteer list will probably push above the seventy mark in March, the month may see many draftees called into service.

52 Already Gone

During February, the local board has contributed 45 men to the state's quota of 9,000, 34 men being sent on February 6, five on February 12, one on February 20, five to be sent on February 28. The total number sent to Fort Hayes by the local board since the enactment of the Selective Service Act is 52, the first quota of three being sent in November and four of the volunteers sent in the February 6 call being rejected because of physical disabilities. Replacements for the February 6 call will be sent to Columbus on February 26, the local board has announced.

More Questionnaires Out

With a greater number of calls expected in the near future Selective Service officials are increasing their activity, sending out questionnaires at the rate of 100 each week. Questionnaires through number 1,330 have been sent to county registrants, the board has announced, and with mailing continuing at its present rate, all questionnaires should be sent by the end of July. Classification notices are being sent to those already classified. At the present time 150 men have been classified, examined and placed on the call list.

State Draft officials have announced that the state quota for March will approximate 15,000 men, which will materially increase the size of all county quotas.

SENATORS VOTE TO CHECK UP ON DEFENSE WORK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The Senate Military Affairs committee today voted approval of a sweeping investigation of the National Defense procurement, its progress, contract distribution, and profits.

The resolution sponsored by Sen. Truman (D) Mo., would set up a special committee of seven senators for "a full and complete study and investigation" of the entire program.

Sen. Sheppard (D) Tex., chairman of the Military Committee, was reported to have been the only member that opposed the proposed investigation. He was said to have urged that the inquiry be conducted by the Military Affairs Committee.

The vote came after the committee amended Truman's resolution to increase the proposed special committee from five to seven. Truman's resolution asks $25,000 to finance the investigation.

The collapsible picnic chair was invented during the Middle Ages. Grandpappy Jenkins says he's figured all along that picnics were some form of medieval torture.

POLICE BATTLE MOBS OPPOSING NATION'S STAND

Crowds Of Pro-British And Communistic Residents Cause Disturbance

this report from London. British establishment of a base at Lemnos obviously would be for the purpose of defending the Dardanelles and the Greek port of Salonika against any sudden German thrust southward through the Balkans.

Tuesday "Zero Hour"

(The London Daily Express reported from Belgrade that the German war of nerves in the Balkans now has reached its peak and that German agents here are "whispering" that the "zero hour" will come next Tuesday.)

According to latest advices from Sofia, no British troops as yet have landed at Salonika, the strategic Greek seaport which might be the chief objective of a German drive if the Nazis launched a campaign southward through the Balkans.

It was stated that small British units had occupied Lemnos as early as November of last year, but that the air and naval base there now has been completed.

Other advices from Sofia said that German soldiers on Wednesday carried out a "practice invasion" of Bulgaria from Romania.

During the afternoon, according to these reports, the Nazis built three pontoon bridges on the Romanian side of the Danube River—stretching across the water to the Bulgarian port of Nicopol.

Then a force of some 100 German soldiers crossed into Bulgaria, returning to Romania shortly before dark.

These developments were accompanied with political apprehension in Bulgaria, where Premier Bogdan Filoff, at a meeting of the government members of Parliament, either answered evasively or ignored questions regarding the Balkan situation.

Several deputies asked Filoff to comment on completion of the pontoon bridge across the Danube and whether he "realized the tremendous Bulgarian interest in possible passage of German troops through Bulgaria."

At the same time it was revealed that Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar-Marcovic of Yugoslavia will go to the Hungarian capital of Budapest for a two-day official visit.

Although neutral observers here and in Budapest do not expect decisive events in Bulgaria before next week, it was generally admitted that events are speeding up.

In addition to partial mobilization of Bulgarian military reserve classes, all bakers' shops have been placed under military control and bakers henceforth will be considered as soldiers.

Military moves seem to parallel the diplomatic campaign aimed at liquidation of the Italo-Greek war, informed sources said, while the Bulgarian press said Germany soon may ask the Greek government to announce her conditions for peace with Italy.

The newspaper "Vecer" suggested Greece would be well advised to "accept German mediation without hesitation," but unconfirmed Yugoslavian press reports claimed that the Greek government already has refused German mediation offers.

must be ready not only to defeat Germany and Italy, but to force Russia to disgorge her gains in Finland and elsewhere and to force Japan to permit reconstruction of an independent China.

Warning that Britain found herself in a serious situation when Belgium capitulated, and pointing to the possibility of Britain's defeat, Gillette said that he is not willing to gamble America's defense entirely on aid to Britain.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull has intervened in the senate battle over the lend-lease bill with advice against limiting aid to Britain, China and Greece because of the possibility of spread of war, authoritative senate sources disclosed today.

Hull's appeal to avoid tying President Roosevelt's hands while the world political situation is in a state of flux was discussed by senators who are both urging and considering a limitation on Mr. Roosevelt's power to dispense huge supplies of arms.

MILLIONS TO AID NAVY BUILDING TO BE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Bills authorizing additional expenditures totalling $67,065,000 for new naval projects will be introduced in the House Monday by Rep. Vinson (D) Ga., chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, he announced today.

Vinson said that one bill would authorize expenditures of $50,000,000 for sectional bases to take care of small craft, such as torpedo boats, which are being constructed to bolster the navy's coast line defenses.

The other bills, he explained, will authorize $17,065,000 for naval aviation facilities at the following areas:

Norfolk, Va.; Cape Hatteras, N. C.; Naval Air Station, $5,205,000; Boston Naval Air Station, $5,205,000; San Francisco Naval Air Station $5,905,000.

SPORTSMEN PLAN BANQUET ON EVENING OF MARCH 19

The Pickaway County Farmers' and Sportsmen's Association will hold its annual banquet March 19 in Memorial Hall, it was decided at a sportsmen's meeting in Elks Hall Thursday night.

Red Snapper will be included in the menu being arranged by a committee consisting of Robert Young, Earl Smith, B. F. Harden and Roy Beatty. Committee making arrangement for the banquet program includes F. K. Blair, Ralph Wallace and Byron Eby. The speaker for the evening has not yet been selected.

Following the regular meeting of the organization, an election was held to choose county representatives to the State Conservation Council. Ralph Leach was made president of the local group, with Donald Courtright as farmers' representative and Harry Bartholomew as sportsmen's representative. B. F. Harden was chosen as vice-president and Robert Rader, secretary.

the disastrous floods which took scores of lives in March, 1938.

Dams were watched carefully as water piled up behind them, and in some instances gates were opened and water allowed to run off.

Trains were delayed and air line traffic halted temporarily; highways were blocked by landslides, communications in many areas were disrupted and automobiles by the score were stalled by water and mud.

Early strawberry crops, citrus fruits and vegetable crops were reported seriously damaged when low lying farms were flooded.

In Los Angeles, Elysian Park's famous "moving mountain" was in trouble again, the rains causing vast portions of it to slip down into the heavily trafficked river-side drive. Three years ago a huge section of the mountain broke off and crashed onto the drive. Today police roped off the danger area, and engineers watched the mountain closely.

18 More Countians To Be Called For Duty March 10

Draft Board Receives New Unofficial Notice From State Authorities

SPEED UP IS PREDICTED

Questionnaires Being Put In Mails At Rate Of 100 Each Week

Selective Service officials received unofficial notice from state draft headquarters Friday that the county would be asked for 18 men on the period beginning March 10. When and if the notice is made official, it will be the second largest contingent sent from the county under the Selective Service Act. Thirty-four men, the county's largest quota, were sent to Fort Hayes on February 6.

It is generally believed that the county's March quota will reach nearly 60, although no official reports have confirmed that number. Local draft officials already have received official notice to send 10 men to state headquarters on March 7. The March 7 call will probably exhaust the county's volunteer list and necessitate the drafting of first registrants. Draft Board officials believe, and although the volunteer list will probably push above the seventy mark in March, the month may see many draftees called into service.

52 Already Gone

During February, the local board will have contributed 45 men to the state's quota of 9,000, 34 men being sent on February 6, five on February 12, one on February 20, five to be sent on February 28. The total number sent to Fort Hayes by the local board since the enactment of the Selective Service Act is 52, the first quota of three being sent in November and four of the volunteers sent in the February 6 call being rejected because of physical disabilities. Replacements for the February 6 call will be sent to Columbus on February 26, the local board has announced.

More Questionnaires Out

With a greater number of calls expected in the near future Selective Service officials are increasing their activity, sending out questionnaires at the rate of 100 each week. Questionnaires through number 1,330 have been sent to county registrants, the board has announced, and with mailing continuing at its present rate, all questionnaires should be sent by the end of July. Classification notices are being sent to those already classified. At the present time 150 men have been classified, examined and placed on the call list.

State Draft officials have announced that the state quota for March will approximate 15,000 men, which will materially increase the size of all county quotas.

SENATORS VOTE TO CHECK UP ON DEFENSE WORK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—The Senate Military Affairs committee today voted approval of a sweeping investigation of the National Defense procurement, its progress, contract distribution, and profits.

The resolution sponsored by Sen. Truman (D) Mo., would set up a special committee of seven senators for "a full and complete study and investigation" of the entire program.

Sen. Sheppard (D) Tex., chairman of the Military Committee, was reported to have been the only member that opposed the proposed investigation. He was said to have urged that the inquiry be conducted by the Military Affairs Committee.

The vote came after the committee amended Truman's resolution to increase the proposed special committee from five to seven. Truman's resolution asks $25,000 to finance the investigation.
